Debbie Nelson Presents on Panel for Business Owners at Inaugural Upstate Women's Show

Greenville, S.C. (August 24, 2008) – Debbie Nelson participated in a panel discussion as part of the Upstate Women's Show's "It's All Business" Workshops. Nelson served on the panel with four other female business owners in the Upstate, including Lauri Bayless of elsewhere, LLC; Tan Kirby Davis of Kirby Resource Group; Lori Morton of Aerie Engineering; and O'Zandra Smith of On The Go Concierge. As panel members, the women each offered their insight and expertise as they discussed the nature of owning a business.

JBM & Associates, a consumer show management and marketing company, produced the event, which targeted women ages 25-64. The show offered shopping, educational seminars, and interactive demonstrations in a variety of areas, such as health and wellness, food and wine, home improvement, arts and crafts, business and finance, and fashion and beauty, among others. Lisa Rinna from Days of Our Lives and Dancing with the Stars and Terry Haas from HGTV made special appearances.
